

ANSWERS TO DR. LEDERER'S HANDOUTS

Answer to spelling quiz: Zero, they are all spelled correctly!

Here are Dr Lederer's versions of the punctuation quiz. Other interpretations are possible:

1. The Bible, which is the central book in religious thought, speaks of three virtues -- faith, hope, and charity -- and says the greatest of these is charity.
2. "Did James travel all the way to San Diego, California, to look for the Joneses' first-edition copy of the story 'The Tell-Tale Heart'?" he asked.
3. Although the school is warning Mary (it's warned her many times before), the brave, wonderfully coordinated young woman wants to try out for the boys' football team.
4. Roosevelt brilliantly exploited the political situation by bringing together five have-not entities: the South, which had lived for years in a state of chronic depression (Roosevelt was to characterize it as the country's number -one economic problem); the Roman Catholics, who still formed a minority group in many parts of the country; the blacks, particularly those settled in the urban communities; the Jews; and the labor unions. (from Brooks, Lewis, and Warren, American Literature: The Makers and the Making)