By signing this form and submitting payment, I hereby acknowledge my understanding of the following:

- I am retiring my credential and will no longer be recognized by AHDI (formerly AAMT) as a Registered Healthcare Documentation Specialist (RHDS).
- I am prohibited from using the RHDS credential without the signifying “R.”
- I am no longer required to complete the RHDS Recredentialing Course for recertification.
- Reinstatement of my RHDS credential requires that I take and pass the RHDS exam.

NOTE: This RHDS-R application and the processing fee must be received in the AHDI office by your recertification deadline. RHDSs have up to 90 days from their original expiration date to submit the application and fees to retire their credential. Applications received past your recertification deadline will be charged a $50 late fee in addition to the normal processing fee of $45. Beyond the 90-day grace period, the lapsed RHDS credential holder forfeits their right to retire their credential and use “RHDS-R,” and the only way to become certified again is by successfully passing the RHDS exam.
